

Report of sheriff's records draws blast from Longest

Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest and his records keeper Merle Strickland blasted last week a report prepared by a Chicago consulting firm which called the office records "unresponsive" and implied they are inadequate.

Longest and Strickland, charged that the consultant who compiled the information for the report did an inadequate job in researching his report.

The report was prepared for the Panhandle Regional Criminal Justice Council by the Public Administration Service. Contents of the report were released last week.

Dr. George T. Felkenes, professor of criminal justice at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, consultant for the project, is quoted as saying that records from the various police departments and sheriff offices in the 25-county Panhandle area are inadequate to supply data needed by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission's criminal justice coordinator.

Felkenes is quoted as saying the current Randall County sheriff's office record file would be "unresponsive to requests for detailed information without additional people to compile them. Even if this were so, several individuals in the sheriff's offices and the Amarillo Police Department questioned the completeness of sheriff's departments records."

"He didn't thoroughly check the record system," said Deputy Strickland, who has been in law enforcement record keeping since 1953 and who helped set up the Amarillo Police Department record system.

Strickland said a consultant on the report visited the Randall County sheriff's office one day when he and Longest were attending an Amarillo meeting concerning regional jails.

The consultant, Strickland said, talked only briefly to Deputy Harold Hooks, who was tied up that morning in district court.

"Hooks said he never even examined all the material we made available to him, which even then was only a portion of our jail records," Strickland said.

Strickland said the consultant visited only briefly, vowing he'd return later to complete his research. He never returned.

Longest said he believes he has the best record-keeping system in the Panhandle compared with other sheriff's offices.

Strickland, who has attended numerous Department of Justice schools on record keeping and who holds an instructor's certificate through state law enforcement agencies, said if there's a better way to keep his records he doesn't know about it. "I don't see how we could improve on it just yet," he said.

Part of Felkenes report pointed to sheriff's department's inability to provide certain unspecified information to CJC Planner C. L. Abernathy upon demand for planning purposes. "We can get anything about anything or anybody any time," Strickland said.

"Within 3 minutes we could tell you how many burglaries we've had," he said. "We could tell you anything you want to know about any class of crime in 3 minutes."

"Within 3 minutes we can give you figures for the previous year on how many people did what by age, sex, the type of offense, number of complaints filed, number of convictions and the disposition."

And, that's not all.

Strickland said his filing system is indexed and cross indexed to provide fast information to agencies by a criminal's name, by the type of burglary he committed, by his

New federal program provides youth jobs

A new federally-funded program will provide jobs for a dozen Canyon young people this summer.

County Judge Woody Pond, who will administer the local funds, said $148,930 has been allocated from the federal government through the state to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission for use in employing youths in the 25-county Panhandle area.

Atty. named president of society

An Amarillo attorney clobbered with a right punch to the head in a battle for control of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society two years ago was unanimously elected president of the organization Thursday afternoon.

Erwin Ochsner, recipient of a rabbit punch thrown by J. Evetts Haley Jr. during a proxy fight at the society's 1971 meeting, succeeds Virgil Patterson, Amarillo banker, as president of the society.

About 50 society members attended the annual meeting Thursday in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum and the meeting went smoothly.

Jay Taylor, Amarillo cattleman, was named first vice president, Charles Woodburn, (See ATTY., Page 10)

WT math professor wins faculty excellence award

Dr. Ronald G. Huffstutler, professor of mathematics, was presented the Faculty Excellence Award during West Texas State University commencement exercises at which a record 900 students were graduated Saturday.

Huffstutler, 37, was the 10th recipient of the $1,000 award given annually by the WTSU Faculty Council. He was chairman of the council during the 1971-72 school year.

In addition to the cash award,

Funds for employment of 12 young people will come to Canyon and will be administered through Randall County.

Those eligible for the summer job program are disadvantaged youths 14 to 22 years of age; Vietnam-era and disabled veterans not more than 29 years of age; and students on vacation and not disadvantaged.

The program will cover a 9-week period during June, July and August.

Pond said those who participate in the program in Canyon will be eligible to work 234 hours at $1.60 per hour or 26 hours a week for 9 weeks.

The county will work jointly with the PRPC, the Texas Panhandle Community Action Program and the Texas Panhandle Manpower Area Planning Council to employ and pay the students or disadvantaged youths.

Pond said even though the number of students eligible for the program seems small, he may have trouble finding a dozen who will participate.

Although the local program will be administered through the county, participants will not necessarily work for the county.

They may be hired by individual non-profit organizations in Canyon with the government picking up the tab. They may also be paid more than $1.60 an hour, but all salaries over $1.60 per hour must be paid by the local employer.

Those who wish to participate in the program should contact (See YOUTH, Page 10) the council also decided this year to give each recipient a certificate. Each of the nine previous winners also will receive the certificate.

A native of McAlester, Okla., and a 1954 graduate of Amarillo High School, Huffstutler received a Bachelor of Science Degree from West Texas State in 1960.

The next year he held a teaching assistantship at Colorado (See AWARD, Page 10)

Poff aide's personal letter sent here with state money

A Canyon man received this week a personal letter signed by the administrative assistant to State Rep. Bryan Poff and enclosed in an envelope which bears a state of Texas indicia.

James Norrell of Canyon said he received the letter Thursday from Benny Turner, former Canyon resident now working for Poff in his Austin office.

"Official Business — State of Texas — State Penalty For Private Use" is clearly marked in red on the face of the envelope which contains the personal letter to Norrell. The envelope bears a metered indicia which indicates the state has paid 8 cents postage on the letter.

The envelope also bears the seal of the State along with Poff's name and Austin address and the heading "House of Representatives Austin."

The letter is written on stationary which also bears the state seal, and Poff's addresses in Austin and Amarillo.

It is dated May 7, 1973.

Following the standard address lines, the letter states:

Dear James:

I was told by my former roommate Barry Wall that you had never returned our deposit on 1508 Seventh Ave. I would appreciate your mailing the $25 apiece as soon as possible to:

Thanking you in advance for your attention in this matter, I am

Benny Turner,
Administrative Asst.

Contacted in Austin Friday, Turner said the mailing of the letter by official state meter "was an accident.

"I didn't mean to send it through the meter. It's certainly not a habit of mine."

Turner said almost all mail which leaves Poff's Austin office is metered. He said apparently a secretary must have mistaken the mail for official business and (See AIDE, Page 10)

WTSU vet lab gets Texas House scrutiny

No word had been received Saturday on whether a bill by State Rep. Bryan Poff creating a veterinary diagnostic lab on the West Texas State University campus was passed by the House Friday afternoon.

Action on the bill was expected Friday, according to reports from Poff's Austin office.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has denied a writ of habeas corpus filed by convicted rapist Anthony Martin Zilka.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen received word Friday the writ has been denied by the state appellate court.

The court action follows findings by Judge E.E. "Gene" Jordan, who recently ruled similarly.

"I'm certain the major thing in the court of criminal appeals action was the favorable finding of fact Judge Jordan entered in the writ hearing," Dowlen said.

Zilka, convicted in 1964 and serving a life sentence for the rape of the 3-year-old daughter of his common-law wife, last fall filed a writ of habeas corpus in 47th District Court here, the same court which handled his original case.

The writ alleged that Zilka's testimony during the 1964 trial in Randall County was impeached by state's attorneys when they introduced evidence that he had been convicted of felony offenses in Pennsylvania in the 1950s.

The writ said, and Zilka based his allegations on the proposition that he was denied the right to attorney during the Pennsylvania cases.

Supreme Court ruling in 1965 said all offenders should have right to attorney. The ruling was retroactive.

Zilka contended during a hearing two months ago in 47th District Court that he had no attorney in the earlier Pennsylvania trials and that his convictions in those trials were used in, and became a major part of, the state's case during his 1964 rape trial here.

Dowlen said Judge Jordan had ruled recently that, based on evidence presented in the writ hearing, Zilka was not an indigent at the time he was convicted on two felony offenses in Pennsylvania. Therefore, he could have hired his own attorney. Zilka testified during the writ hearing that he was a sheet-metal worker before his convictions in Pennsylvania.

The latest court of criminal appeals action marked the third time that court has turned down Zilka's appeals.

The convicted rapist appealed his original conviction in 1964. He appealed again through the 47th District Court in 1968.

Dowlen said Zilka now has the alternative to file his appeal with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Zilka, however, becomes eligible for parole from the state penitentiary in September 1974, according to Dowlen.

"That is no indication he will (See ZILKA, Page 10)

Bill would double kindergartens here

A House bill passed Thursday in Austin could double the number of kindergartens Canyon School District would have to offer next fall.

The bill, passed by the House and sent to the Senate, calls for providing public kindergartens for all five-year-olds in the state.

Currently, the state requires school districts to provide public kindergartens for only specific classifications of students. The current law also provides that later in the decade public kindergartens for all five-year-olds will be mandatory.

School Supt. Jerry Jacobs said the bill, if signed into law, will mean the Canyon district will have to double the number of kindergartens it operates. The district now runs a kindergarten at Gene Howe School and at Rex Reeves School.

Although the two kindergartens now in operation are to be run on a half-day rather than a full-day basis next fall, Jacobs said passage of the bill will mean the addition of two more kindergarten classes to operate on half-days.

"We had planned to go to half-day sessions next year," he said. "This bill would involve us having another kindergarten at Gene Howe and Rex Reeves."

Rep. Wilson Foreman of Austin has been quoted as saying the bill will not cost the state any additional funding.

Jacobs said he can see, however, where the bill will, in fact, cost the state since added students call for added personnel and thus added state expenditures according to a complicated state school funding formula.

Cost of the additional two kindergartens to the Canyon district and taxpayer could be more than in just money, Jacobs indicated. He said he does not now (See BILL, Page 10)

'Fast' trucks look deceiving when compared with radar unit

During recent weeks, The Canyon News has received several complaints from citizens claiming that large trucks are running through Canyon, especially on 23rd Street near Rex Reeves Elementary School, at excessive speeds.

"Why don't the police write speeding tickets to the truck drivers?", would sum up the questions asked by the callers.

A reporter contacted Police Chief Al Stewart and asked about reports that trucks were running at over-the-limit speeds and getting away with it.

According to Chief Stewart, radar is used at regular intervals throughout the city, especially in school areas such as 23rd Street.

"We do write tickets to truckers," Stewart said, "but mostly for running red lights." The chief added that, according to radar checks, the trucks are not in violation of speed laws as often as cars are.

"Because of their size and the noise they make, they seem to be going faster than they really are," the chief said. He described a truck's appearance as sort of "an optical illusion," quite similar to the illusion that small foreign cars are also moving faster than they really are.

Stewart also cited the recent removal, required by state law, of the portable 15-miles-per-hour school zone signs that for years had been used on 23rd Street at Rex Reeves.

The speed limit is now 15 miles-per-hour faster (30 M.P.H. rather than 15 M.P.H.) through the school crossing area," said Stewart. He added that patrol cars do watch the crossing area and that an adult woman escorts children across the highway.

In order to fully check out caller's complaints, the News reporter accompanied Lt. Tom Rolan of the Canyon Police Department on a routine radar patrol of 23rd Street near the school.

Beginning in the afternoon when school had just dismissed, the reporter sat in the patrol car and noted the speeds of various vehicles. During a 15-minute period of checking southbound traffic, the only apparent violator was a standard car approaching the school zone.

No trucks traveling south were anywhere near the posted speed of 30 miles-per-hour.

Next, in order to check incoming traffic from the south, the patrol car was moved to the other side of the street. Despite being well hidden by a parked tractor-trailer rig, the radar again indicated that trucks were well within the authorized speed.

Of at least 25 trucks, only one (an open-bed bobtruck loaded with crates) was above the posted speed. It was traveling one mile over the limit as it passed the patrol car.

During that time, speeds in the 40-mile zone just south of the school crossing ranged from a low of 27 M.P.H. to 41 M.P.H. One large truck broke the barrier at 43 M.P.H. as it slowed but by the time it reached the intersection it was well within the limit.

"We try to use common sense," said Lt. Rolan. He added that much less leniency was shown to speeders in the school zone areas than in less congested locations. Rolan also stated that the large trucks give the appearance of moving faster than other vehicles. At one point, three cars and a large truck moved together for several blocks and the officer pointed to their identical speed, but the appearance that the truck was moving much faster.

Chief Stewart said that his department did not write tickets to trucks just because they were trucks, any more than it would write tickets to cars simply because they were cars. (See FAST, Page 10)

Concert For CHS Band Is Thursday

By ANN BROWN

Today is another day designated to honor mothers. The miraculous characteristic of a good mother is not that she sacrifices and slaves for her children, but that she loves them—no matter what they do.

Love is the greatest miracle of all. Without love, man is no better than the beasts with which he shares this planet. And mothers exemplify love in its purest form.

An ancient philosopher said, "God could not be everywhere, so He made mothers." Not all will agree that God cannot be everywhere, but who can suggest a better substitute than a mother?

That was probably what Thackeray had in mind when he said, "Mother is the name for God in the lips and hearts of children."

The miracle of God manifested through His Son lay not in His ability to walk on the water, raise the dead, nor hang the world in space. The most wonderful miracle was that He loved ungrateful humanity enough to die that we might live. And no earthly devotion resembles the love of God as much as the affection of a mother for her child.

Perhaps because it is more blessed to give than to receive, sacrificing for others makes them especially dear to us. Mothers usually love best the children for whom they have to make the greatest sacrifices.

Washington Irving superbly described mother love:

"There is an enduring tenderness in the love of a mother to a son that transcends all other affections of the heart. It is neither to be chilled by selfishness, nor daunted by danger, nor weakened by worthlessness, nor stifled by ingratitude. She will sacrifice every comfort for his convenience, she will surrender every pleasure to his enjoyment, she will glory in his fame, and exalt in his prosperity; and if adversity overtake him, he will be dearer to her by misfortune; and if disgrace settle upon his name, she will still love and cherish him."

Wise mothers, however, like God, will not do for their children what they could and should do for themselves. Doing chores is good training for success in later life. And praise for work well done accomplishes more than reprimands for work not done.

He who would rescue the world from its errors and vices, would be wise to begin by enlisting the mothers. Not every mother, of course, can hold a torch on high, but she can light a candle in her own nursery.

According to his teachers, Thomas A. Edison was about as unpromising a student as they ever encountered. Yet that genius probably contributed more to the comfort, welfare, and progress of mankind than any other one man.

What was the secret of Edison's success? He said, "My mother was the making of me. She was so true, so sure of me; and I felt I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint."

George Washington said, "All that I am I owe to my mother."

Abraham Lincoln, who rose from poverty to President, said, "No man is poor who has had a godly mother."

The "deprived child" is a popular topic of conversation in sophisticated circles. Many educational programs and welfare projects such as Head Start, Aid to Dependent Children, and Mental Retardation Centers are provided for deprived children.

But regardless of health, wealth or social standing, no child is truly deprived who has been blessed with a Godly mother.

God made mothers before He made ministers. The progress of the kingdom of God depends more on the work and influence of faithful, wise, and consecrated mothers than on any other human agency.

Harry H. Schlacht painted a word picture which beautifully summarizes the whole subject of motherhood: "... mother is indeed the golden cord which binds the earth to God. She is the key-stone of the home. She is the guiding star of the destiny of men. She is the foundation of civilization. She has enriched and enabled the souls of men and nations. Her love is the nearest approach to divine love that God grants to men. For a mother's love there is no substitute."

Letters To The Editor

Happy Man Unhappy With Stories

A Tissue Issue?

Gentlemen:

I have lived in the Texas Panhandle for almost four years. As a resident of Happy I have been grateful for the fine coverage you have given our town, school and other events in our area. I was shocked and saddened when you were able with one ill-conceived issue of your paper to undo all of the good you have done in the past. I am referring, of course, to the Thursday, May 3 issue.

I have grown used to the irresponsible journalism of the Liberal oriented Eastern Press but it was disheartening to see your managing editor, fall into the same pattern. It would have taken very little effort to have checked the facts of the "Petition Contests School Board Election." Yet, the statements of one or two disgruntled people were printed. Despite the avowal that there was no intention of impugning the character or integrity of the people involved, almost every word following reflected upon the integrity and honor of our finest citizens in Happy.

To imply that our school teachers and school administrators would take revenge on "their children, who are in Happy schools" was a slap in the face of nearly everyone in the Happy school system. The honesty and integrity of every election official in Happy was questioned. I'm sure that by now you have found that the petition did not "pretty well express the feeling of most of the people in the community."

I doubt that you will be able to correct the damage done by the article, but it would be gratifying to see an attempt made to do so. Sam Bryan, Superintendent of Happy Schools, is one of the most respected men in his profession. I feel that most of the noise raised in regard to the school board election is directed at him.

Thank you for the past good coverage you have given our community and I am deeply sorry that you did not check the facts about the contested school board election before causing the embarrassment to many wonderful people in Happy.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Looney

Happy School Is Commended

Stop My Newspaper

Dear Sir:

We'd like to commend the School Board of Happy Public Schools for their fine service to our community; also the integrity of those who were in charge of our recent school board election.

Supt. Sam Bryan has served our school for several years and in our dealings with him, have never found him unfair with our children or any of the students.

Small towns can be really hurt by unverified statements such as appeared in your paper of May 3rd issue. Besides the hurt to Happy, Canyon merchants benefit by much Happy trade. This should be kept in mind by a newspaper which serves an area—at least the paper should be sure of the information from each angle.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Hobart McManigal

I am sorry but I cannot renew my subscription if you are going to publicly accuse honest, upright citizens like Pat Sims and Frances Hudson of being dishonest before checking your story to see that it was true. Families Of War Dead Honored In WT Ceremony

Families of 11 former West Texas State University students killed in the Vietnam war were guests of honor at street-naming ceremonies on campus Saturday.

Eleven unnamed streets at WTSU were designated a memorial to each of the servicemen.

The servicemen's families and the sponsoring Greek social sororities and fraternities participated in the erection of street signs and a luncheon.

The streets are named for Sgt. Larry Allen May, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.P. May of White Deer; Capt. Donald R. Blair, son of Mrs. L.R. Blair of Canyon; First Lt. Jimmy D. Bean, son of Mrs. Mable Hawkins of Amarillo; Capt. Jimmy M. Brasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.V. Brasher of Canyon; Lt. Carlos Pedrosa, son of Mrs. Nina Pedrosa of New York City.

Pfc. Stephen B. Geurin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Geurin of Amarillo; Sgt. Keith W. Rowell, son of Mrs. E.A. Rowell of Clinton, Okla.; Lt. Ron Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smith of Ralls; Capt. James B. Hansard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hansard of Kerrville; Sgt. Cal Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Johnson of White Deer; and Capt. Russell Slough, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Slough of Dimmitt.

The Student Senate had proclaimed Saturday WTSU Honored Veteran's Day.

A plaque engraved with the names of all former WTSU students killed in the Vietnam war is to be placed in the Activities Center.

"Since no branch of the armed services keeps a roster of servicemen according to the college or university they attended, it was impossible to get a complete list of all WT veterans who died in Indochina," student sponsors of the street-naming project said.

"Finally 18 names were uncovered. Contact was attempted with all 18 families. The first 11 to respond and agree to let us use their son's name for the ones we are using," they added.

"No matter what individual name appears on the street sign, the street is dedicated to all men who gave their lives in the war."

Switch-hitter A Top Man On WTSU Tennis Courts

John Phillips got started in tennis by getting off on the wrong foot—or to be more accurate, with the wrong hand.

Phillips, a natural left-hander, started playing tennis as an eighth grader in Snyder, Tex., under high school coach Ken McAllister. When Phillips walked on the court for the first time for lessons he noticed that every youngster there and the coach were holding their racquets in their right hands.

Now John is the kind of fellow who doesn't want to rock the boat, so he just switched his racquet to his right hand and it has stayed there ever since.

Phillips, a junior at West Texas State University, is the number three man on the Buffalo team this spring which has compiled a 17-6 season record.

The 6-0, 160-pound physical education major is a key man in West Texas State's Missouri Valley Conference title hopes. The Buffaloes of coach David Kent will compete in the MVC Tournament May 19-21 in Memphis, Tenn.

Phillips, who has a 14-9 season record in singles, had his best efforts of the season last week during the Oral Roberts University tourney at Tulsa. He went unbeaten in singles matches against Northwest Missouri, Austin-Peay and Northeast Louisiana.

Overall Phillips has a record of 52 wins and 22 losses at West Texas State in singles. He played doubles for two years with Paul Tobin, now a student assistant coach, and is teamed this spring with Wichita Falls junior Dale Corbin. They play in the number two position and have a 16-6 record.

Phillips won the Missouri Valley Conference title in number four singles two years ago when the Buffaloes captured the team title. He and Tobin also won the number two doubles crown that season.

The lanky Buffalo shot-maker takes a great deal of good-natured kidding about the length of his nose.

"I decided to try tennis and give up football back in junior high school when some guy tackled me by my nose," kidded Phillips.

What ever the reason was for Phillips switching from football to tennis, Buffalo tennis coach David Kent is glad.

"John has improved his play throughout the season and should prove to be a solid threat in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament," said Kent.

Tennis Champ Signs With WT

Brett Hall of Houston, a Class AAAA state semi-finalist for the past two seasons, has signed an athletic scholarship agreement to play tennis at West Texas State University.

Hall is the third high school player to be signed this spring by WTSU coach David Kent. The other players are Steve Johnson of Reno, Nev., and Dana Caledonia of LaJolla, Calif.

Hall, whose high school coach is former Tascosa High coach Jerry Foster, was unbeaten this past season in dual matches. His overall record at Clear Lake High School was 30-3.

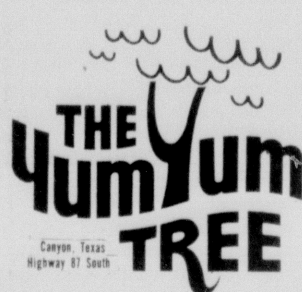

The 6-3, 180-pounder reached the state semi-finals his junior year before falling to the eventual winner Graham Whaling, 5-7, 6-4, 6-8. He lost in this year's state semi-finals to eventual winner Jon Brotherton, 4-6, 1-6.

Hall is presently ranked number 29 in Texas boys 18 singles, but has beaten players ranked as high as 19. On the Highway 80 tennis circuit last summer he was the winner at Lubbock and runner-up at Odessa. He split sets with present West Texas State netter John Phillips in the Odessa tourney finals.

"Brett has tremendous potential as a collegiate tennis player," said West Texas State coach David Kent. "He has a big service right now and his volley game is strong."

Hall, who has a 3.9 grade average on a 4.5 system, plans to major in business management.

Van Pelt Family Combines Interest In Athletics And Art

You might say the W.P. VanPelts are a family of artistic athletes. Or you could even say they are a family of athletic artists. Any way you look at it, Mr. and Mrs. VanPelt and their sons Chip and Eric represent a surprising combination of skills and enthusiasms.

Head of the family, Chop VanPelt, assists Gene Mayfield as offensive line coach for the Buffaloes football team and instructs in health and physical education at West Texas State University. His interest in art is limited to appreciating the works produced by his wife and sons.

Mary Frances VanPelt, on the other hand, teaches art and paints and sketches in her spare time—that is, when she is not attending football and basketball games in which her sons are playing or her husband coaching.

Chip, a senior at Canyon High School, plays with the Eagles' football team. But his art portfolios have been outstanding enough to be forwarded for final judging in the national scholastic student art competition and also the scholastic contest sponsored by the Texas Fine Arts Association. He plans to major in art next year at WTSU.

Ninth-grader Eric is not leaning one way or another. He enjoys sports and he also displays the family talent in art.

Mr. and Mrs. VanPelt met at Austin College in Sherman, Texas, when both were undergraduates majoring in the fields they now teach. Following graduation, he coached in the public schools of McAllen for nine years and Mary Frances served as head of the art department at McAllen High School for three years.

In 1968 the VanPelts moved to Odessa, Mary Frances' home town, where Chop was athletic coach at one of the high schools and she taught art at Bowie Junior High School. Several months after he joined the staff at WT in March 1971, the family moved to their home at 716 Foster Lane.

Teaching six classes of art at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo and keeping her household running smoothly takes the major portion of Mrs. VanPelt's day. Yet she still finds time to paint and sketch, occasionally play the piano, sing in the First Presbyterian Church Choir, and keep up with the football games her husband and boys are involved in.

"Last fall I went to a minimum of three games a week," she recalled. "Eric played on Thursday night on the junior high team, Chip played Friday night with the Eagles, and Chop's team played Saturdays." The busiest part of their year is August 1 until the end of November, but recruiting and spring practice also keeps her family on the go.

Her menfolk's participation in rugged team sports calls for Mrs. VanPelt to plan hearty meals that can be quickly prepared or will hold over as they come and go to meet game and practice schedules.

"The boys are both usually trying to put on weight, so I kind of go in for quantity rather than quality," explains their mother. They like steaks, of course, and filling things like spaghetti and hamburgers.

Mrs. VanPelt describes herself as a sorry athlete who doesn't even care for camping. "When I was in college, my instructor tried me in all the games but finally told me, 'Mary Frances, you had better just be a spectator.'"

She does her sketching and painting weekends, vacations

Mary Frances and "Chop" VanPelt pose for a family portrait with their sons Eric, a ninth grader, and Chip, a senior. Mr. VanPelt is offensive line coach for the Buffaloes football team and instructs in the health and physical education department at WTSU. She teaches art to junior high students.

Kansas Forward Signs With WT

Dana Albright, a sharp-shooting forward, has signed an athletic scholarship agreement with West Texas State University to play basketball.

The 6-6, 210-pound Albright was outstanding in two years of basketball at Garden City, Kan., Junior College.

As a freshman at Garden City he scored 22.6 points per game and averaged 11 rebounds for a team which had a 13-12 record. He tallied 21.8 points per contest as a sophomore and averaged 11.1 rebounds for a team with a 12-14 standard.

Albright earned honorable mention all-state honors at Hays, Kan., during his junior year in high school as his team compiled a 17-3 record. Hays had an 18-2 mark his senior year and he was a first team all-state selection.

Following his freshman year at Garden City he was named the team's most valuable player. That award was not given this past season.

"Dana is a good shooter from out to 22 feet," said Garden City head coach Duane Channell. "He shot about 46 per cent from the field this past season and 79.5 per cent at the free throw line. He scored on 81.8 per cent of his free throws as a freshman."

"Although he isn't a great leaper, he's a strong and determined rebounder. He has the knack of getting the ball to the open man."

Dana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Albright of Hutchinson, Kan., has a 3.4 grade average on a 4-point system at Garden City. He will major in either business or physical education at West Texas State.

Albright is the fourth player to sign with the Buffaloes this spring. The others have been guards Howard Taylor of Northwest Mississippi Junior College, Bob Miller of Seaford, N.Y., and Victor King of Clarksville, Va.

He selected West Texas State over offers from several other major universities, including Jacksonville.

Missionary To Speak On Africa

The Reverend Warren Newberry, an Assemblies of God missionary to Malawi, Central Africa, will be the guest speaker Wednesday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church, the Reverend A.J. Pettit, pastor, has announced.

In 1966 Malawi, which was formerly called Nyasaland, gained its independence and became the Republic of Malawi. Four and one half million people live in this landlocked country where the Assemblies of God now has a Bible school, printing press, an International Correspondence Institute, and 61 national workers ministering in 51 organized churches and 35 preaching points.

Mr. Newberry and his wife Annette helped construct church buildings and mission houses during their first term of missionary service. They also taught in the Malawi Bible school and conducted tent crusades within the country. In addition to these activities, Mr. Newberry held portfolios of general treasurer of the national church, district superintendent, youth director of the district, and chairman of the field fellowship.

He was graduated from Southern California College, Costa Mesa, Calif. and pastored churches in California and Texas prior to their missionary appointment.

This service will feature African songs, curios, and a slide presentation. The public is invited to attend.

Join The Crowd To Call Mom

If you want to call mother today, the best time to do it is before 11 a.m. or during the afternoon.

That's the advice of Mike Patrick, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Canyon and Hereford.

Calls from Canyon will be part of the 32,700 long distance calls which the telephone company expects to be placed through Amarillo facilities today.

That includes about 22,100 direct dialed calls and about 10,600 operator-handled calls.

"There really aren't any non-busy times to call on Mother's Day any more," Patrick said. He noted that direct dialed calls are cheapest because they bypass the operator.

Patrick said Mother's Day rivals Christmas in terms of numbers of calls made throughout the nation. Last Christmas, 9.1 million calls were made. That figure was only 56,000 more than recorded on Mother's Day last year.

This year, the Bell system anticipates 10.7 million long distance calls on Mother's Day.

FUSIBLE WEBS AND films simplify home sewing—by eliminating several time consuming tasks. These new products utilize heat, steam, and pressure to bond two fabrics together—that is, any fabric that can be steam pressed.

Fusibles simplify the addition of trims and appliques by eliminating basting, hemming, and some hand sewing. In addition, they aid in matching designs and prevent raveling. Also, fabric and beiling material are joined invisibly through the use of a web or film.

For best results, test product effectiveness on a fabric scrap, before using it on the garment. Webs work better on some fabrics than others. Although bonds are usually permanent, sometimes they loosen. When this happens, simply repress the item, resealing the fabrics. To remove, steam the area heavily and pull fabrics apart. Do not allow hot iron and webbing to come into contact, they will stick together. Should some webbing stick, use a mild abrasive or commercial iron cleaner to remove it. Then restore sole plate smoothness by gliding the hot iron over wax paper.

DESPITE NAME SIMILARITY, acetate and triacetate differ greatly. "Weak" acetate usually is not machine washable—triacetate is. In addition triacetate can be ironed at higher temperature.

TO MACHINE WASH a shower curtain, use warm water, a gentle, four-minute cycle and a non-precipitating conditioner. Tumble dry on air setting.

THE BRANDING IRON

Theatre awards for outstanding achievements in performances at WTSU, as most know, are determined by votes of members of Buffalo Masquers and Eta Iota Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama society. However, in awards for musical productions, all the students involved may also vote on honors to be handed out. "We have one vote each, just like everyone else," pointed out Mrs. Margaret Moore to me.

Curious about the recognition awards given out to the seven patrons, I asked about these also. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Raillard, because of their outstanding contribution to drama at WTSU, were given honorary membership in Eta Iota Cast of Alpha Psi Omega—a rare privilege.

The other six received the prized branding irons for their support of BIT productions. Steve Hilton, who was master of ceremonies, got one in recognition of his non-credit contributions to drama (he is a music major) and, specifically, for his creative work in composing, producing and singing in his opera "On the Road."

Marcia Durden got one of the coveted awards for being helpful in all sorts of ways, from working on costumes for "Mary, Queen of Scots" to bringing in hamburgers for the cast and workers. Incidentally, Marcia's daughter is a promising young actress at WT.

Murle Mordy, instructor this past year in the French department, was recognized for his many contributions in art, production, and music for the Branding Iron Theatre. Mr. Mordy plays with the University orchestra also.

Gene Morrison, Sr., merited the branding iron for serving above and beyond the call of duty in making available trucks for hauling, gasoline, and that sort of thing. Gene Morrison, Jr., as most everyone knows, is a music major at WT and will be in the TEXAS singing cast again this summer.

Dr. A.K. Knott was honored in recognition of the years of encouragement and support he has given the student actors and actresses who were enrolled in his classes, particularly those in Shakespeare. Just his attendance at most of the productions has spurred them to give their best performances.

Congratulations to all the many winners and nominees who have added to the enjoyment of living in Canyon this past year! And also, thanks to the Moores, James Kemmerling, and Royal Brantley for their direction.

ITEM OVERLOOKED: ON April 27 representatives of the art department faculty and students attended an auction for the Midland Association for Retarded Children at the Midland Petroleum Club.

The art department donated about 500 works of art earlier in the semester to the association which prepared them for auction. This was the sixth year that WTSU had participated in the event which earned over $10,000 last year. WTSU is the only school which participates in the auction.

THE AMARILLO SYMPHONY Orchestra will again schedule two outdoor concerts for the public this summer. Many people in Canyon look forward to these events.

AMARYLLIS PORCELAIN ART Club will meet at 10 a.m., May 15, at the Y.W.C.A. in Amarillo.

School Board To Meet Tuesday

The Canyon School Board Tuesday night will again discuss the planned area vocational school which has been approved for the school district.

If built, the approximately half-million dollar facility would put all vocational classes under one roof on the campus. Most of the funds to build the structure would come from federal and state funds.

The board is also expected to consider, in conjunction with the Canyon City Commission, the possibility of allowing a $3,000 tax exemption for persons 65 years old or older.

Other items slated for board attention are continuation of the school lunch program, procedure in permitting music teachers to teach piano lessons in classrooms, and to approve advertising for bids to sell two school buses in June.

The public is invited to the school board meetings, which are held at the high school beginning at 8:30 p.m.

News Brief

S.P.R.Y. Club will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. at First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Delbert Lowes and Mrs. Fred Mye will be hostesses.

Mrs. W. R. Matsler will give a devotional taken from a "talking book" from the State Library in Austin.

Everyone is invited to enjoy table games, refreshments, and fellowship. Those needing transportation may call 655-3540.

rillo. Mrs. C.L. Perkins will conduct a workshop.

THE AAUW DRAMA Group met last Monday night in the home of Mattie and Alec Mack to read "Tea and Sympathy." Georgia Blackwell has presided over the group this year. Those attending enjoy the relaxed format of the meetings—parts are assigned and the reading goes along at a fast pace, sometimes interrupted for refreshments or a cup of coffee.

After last Monday evening's meeting we got to visit Alec Mack's studio and look over his paintings, some in various states of completion and some finished. He is particularly good at depicting and grouping figures in rather dramatic scenes. You have a feeling sometimes you are looking at a huge canvas, when actually it may be 24 by 36 inches. We all want to go back soon and tour his "Red Art Gallery."

MANY CANYONITES MINGLED with the students who sat on the lawn before the porch of the Education Building last Tuesday evening to watch the performance of "Romeo and Juliet."

It was the perfect night for such an imaginative production—warm with a pale half-moon floating in the west. As often as not the actors and actresses came onstage by way of a path through the audience, making them feel "in" the play themselves. The response was excellent, even though some of the quiet, tender passages were not audible on the fringes—mainly because they were all masters of expressive pantomime.

DR. JACK H. Walker has again designed a "Readers Theatre Workshop" for this summer, July 16-Aug. 2. Applications may be addressed to him.

The objective of the course is to demonstrate to elementary, secondary, and college teachers the possibilities for the use of the Readers Theatre technique in education as a tool for teaching. Emphasis will be placed on the use of texts of all kinds for group performance. It carries three hours credit for those enrolled in course and workshop.

aliases, by his friends.

In addition, the sheriff's department keeps records on all incidents reported and catalogues them for easy access.

The sheriff's office, he said, never disposes or throws away records.

In addition to the records kept in Strickland's office, he said a file on each person arrested is sent through the National Criminal Intelligence Communications system which funnels to the FBI, the state law enforcement agencies and agencies through the nation.

Access to the NCIC data is as close for any law enforcement agency as their teletype machine. In fact, he said information may be retrieved within minutes about suspects or stolen property and other crimes.

Strickland is required by several state and federal agencies to compile volumes of annual statistics breaking down criminal actions in the county by type of action, who committed, age, sex, race, and so on.

Only once, he said, has he been asked for information which it took longer than a few minutes to obtain. That was when the suicide prevention program in Amarillo asked him to break down the county's suicides by education level and religious affiliation.

The sheriff's department employs Strickland as full-time records superintendent and jailer and Hooks as his assistant.

"I feel his research was definitely deficient," Strickland said, referring to the consultant who compiled the report information. "I never did get to talk to him and I'm the superintendent of the records."

Felkenes has recommended a grant be developed to provide a region-wide central records system.

Strickland and Longest said such a system would probably be unnecessary since each law enforcement agency in the Panhandle has a teletypewriter which provides easy access to any information needed from Canyon to Kalamazoo.

Pond said the summer program is much like the NYC program which has operated out of the West Texas State University campus for several years, except the new program is not just for disadvantaged youths.

Truckers, said the chief, usually try to justify running red lights by claiming quick stops would cause a load shift.

Stewart said it was extremely dangerous for large trucks to run red lights and that drivers doing so were ticketed. The length of the truck was cited as the reason for the greater danger.

In regard to the school crossing at 23rd Street, Chief Stewart said it is hoped that permanent flashing signs will be installed by the time school resumes next fall. "We are now working toward the installation of lights that will again reduce the speed in the school zone to 15 M.P.H.," he said.

The chief said the crossing guard was doing a great job of safely getting the children across the busy street and there should be no real cause for parent concern. "She won't even start across with them until all oncoming traffic has stopped," Stewart said.

have shaken Austin and the state in recent years, Briscoe said those scandals have brought about "a decline in public confidence in our governmental institutions" along with "a corresponding decline in the ability of government to function properly, efficiently or effectively."

The governor also touched briefly on what he termed the "first function of government" - to protect "hardworking and honest citizens from those who would prey upon them with violence and dishonesty."

He said his goal is to make streets safe by day or night.

"It can be done and this session will make long strides toward that goal," he said.

The governor also paid tribute to the Society and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum's contributions to the preservation of state history.

"So much of early Texas frontier history is being preserved and interpreted by this association that your contributions to future generations of Texans cannot be over estimated," he said. "You have my support in all your endeavors to bring to the attention of every Texan the colorful and exciting past which belongs to us."

Among those attending the annual banquet, which was held on the West Texas State University campus, were State Sen. Max Sherman and Rep. Ben Bynum both of Amarillo, and WTSU Regents Jim Jenkins of Amarillo and Irbey Carruth of Austin.

Following passage by the House, the bill will be sent to the Senate for consideration.

The bill directs the Texas A&M University system board of regents to establish the lab as a branch of the A&M veterinary school on the WTSU campus.

"We're halfway there," Poff said Thursday. "The bill as it is now drawn not only creates the lab but provides us with enough money to build and run it."

University officials had earlier expressed the fear that because the bill contained no provision for funding, and since the House appropriation bill contained no funding that the construction of the lab might be delayed until money could be sought from another session of the legislature.

Mrs. S. B. Whittenburg of Amarillo was retained as secretary.

Thursday's meeting was basically routine with approval voiced after the several committee reports.

C. Boone McClure, director of the museum, reported to society members that he is seeking funding to the tune of $200,000 to purchase 58 carriages from a previous donor.

He said he sought funding through the National Heritage Foundation, which responded that it would help finance restoration of the carriages but could not supply initial financing.

McClure said he has compiled a list of the various foundations in Texas which he will contact to seek funding.

"If we get them (the 58 carriages) here, we'll have the finest carriage collection in the Midwest," he said.

McClure also reported on the financial condition of the museum and the society.

He said the Legislative Budget Board has appropriated an additional $2000 to $3000 over what the museum staff requested for next year's operation.

The executive committee of the society voted prior to Thursday afternoon's public meeting to spend about $10,000 to have 30 cases constructed to house additional exhibits in the museum. The $10,000 is residual in the society's account.

In other business, outgoing President Patterson saluted the museum auxiliary, which consists of more than 40 Canyon women who have volunteered to aid the museum staff.

Membership Committee Chairman Ed Harrell reported the society now has 954 members, down from 1148 last year.

Canyon members re-elected or elected to the society board of directors include Levi Cole, Dr. James P. Cornette, Newton Crain, Duane Guy, J. Everts, Haley Sr., Ples Harper, Arch Hunsley, Boone McClure, Jack Taylor, Clarence E. Thompson, Don Max Vars.

Mrs. Lindley Cherishes Role Of Mother

Mrs. L.C. Lindley wouldn't trade her role as mother and homemaker for any other in the world. One of the main reasons is Shane, her 17-month-old grandson, son of Cliff and Davida Rogers, shown perched gleefully on her lap.

You may have thought her kind was extinct—a woman who openly proclaims, "I wouldn't trade the years I had at home with my children for anything in the world."

But this particular specimen of woman, known as Mother, may not be so rare as television and the press would have the public believe.

She shuns the limelight. You have to look for her in special places.

Her favorite habitat, as a matter of fact, is generally a neat, comfortable dwelling on some quiet side street of a town like Canyon.

In just such a setting you will find the Mother of this news story. She is Mrs. D.C. Lindley, of 1000 5th Street.

Polly Lindley has lived all her life, except for ten years of her early married years, in Canyon. The daughter of the late L.C. Ruthart and Mrs. Ruthart, Mrs. Lindley's nine brothers and sisters still live in or near the town where they were born, with the exception of a brother in Colorado.

On the particular warm spring evening your reporter pulled up before the Lindley home, two young men were pitching ball in the street and several people were out on the lawn watching a baby boy toddle around.

Inside a vase of red roses on the piano gave away the fact that Polly had been the loving wife of one man for 24 years. The first ten years she and "D.C." spent in Plainview, Hart and Three-Way, where they tried farming. But after coming back to Canyon, Mr. Lindley has been making his living as a painter and paint contractor. They have three children and one grandchild, Shane, a robust and happy 17-month-old.

The Lindleys are not only proud of their children. They like to have them and their friends around the house. They like to do things with them, like stand around the piano and sing songs.

Davida, their oldest, is now Mrs. Clifford Rogers, the pretty young mother of Shane. Cliff has just accepted the post of music and youth director for Calvary Baptist Church, and they will soon be moving to Canyon. She graduated from Canyon High School, and both she and her husband attended West Texas State University.

The Lindley's second daughter, Armetha, is now a junior music major at WTSU and sings with the Chorus. She frequently brings a host of her friends over to the house to relax or enjoy home cooking.

David, their tall 17-year-old son, is a junior at Canyon High School. He has just returned from accompanying the ChS Choir to Galveston.

Said Polly, "All three of them are musically inclined, and neither one of us are. I sang in the high school choir and at church, but I never had any formal training." All of the children have had piano lessons, however.

Music has brought moments of pleasure into the Lindley home, and kept the children interested in school.

Their Christian faith, too, is woven into the fabric of their family life. D.C. is an ordained deacon and licensed minister in the Baptist Church, and his father was a minister.

"I think your religious faith is terribly important," reflected Polly. "At your very best, you are still inadequate to supply all of your needs."

Being faithful to D.C. and Polly Lindley means being involved in the life of Calvary Baptist Church. They attend regularly on Sunday morning and Wednesday evening.

But their involvement doesn't stop there. "As a matter of fact, my kids always thought something was wrong if someone didn't come home from church with us on Sunday. We usually had a houseful on Sunday afternoons."

In keeping with their church's custom of "adopting" college students, the Lindley family this year adopted 24 college students. They are invited for meals at special times like Easter and Christmas, and Polly tries to remember each one's birthday with a card. On Thursday evening they held open house for their adopted children, many of whom dropped by to play cards, sing, visit, and refresh themselves in the warm, homelike atmosphere.

Six years ago during a family crisis Polly took a job as secretary to the maintenance director at West Texas State University and continued working as her children approached college age.

But Polly thinks mothers of young children belong in the home. "I firmly believe that mothers should spend the 'young years' with their children. I feel it is important for their security. Of course, I realize it is necessary at certain times to work, but I wouldn't trade the years I had at home with my children for anything in the world."

As for material possessions, she said, "The most important thing to me was always the background I could give my children. I think for one thing, you have to learn to be content with possibly less of the luxuries in life."

The Lindley children grew up, taking their turn at family chores such as doing dishes or mowing the lawn. And everyone made his own bed in the morning.

Polly herself has always enjoyed the role of homemaker. "There really isn't much about the home that I don't like," she said, and then added with an appealing look to her son, "except emptying the trash." David, getting the message, good-naturedly emptied the trash.

She made most of the girl's clothes when they were younger, and still sews many items for her own wardrobe.

The Lindleys have always taken an interest in their children's progress in school, by encouraging rather than pushing.

"I tried to encourage them to do their best," Polly said, "not necessarily to keep up with someone else. And I tried not to expect any more from them than I felt they were capable of."

She also said, "I always insisted on knowing where they were going and with whom, but we set no rigid curfew for our children."

Discipline tempered with love and common sense seems to describe this mother's approach to raising children. Maybe it explains why the much touted "generation gap" is conspicuously absent in her home.

Mother's Day today will be almost like any other Sunday at the Lindley address. The family will go to church, call on Mrs. Lindley's mother in the hospital, and spend the rest of the day visiting with friends and family in the home. . . . A home that is peaceful and fulfilling.

Maybe that is a rarity nowadays, after all.

Cliff Rogers, daughter and son-in-law. Another daughter, Armetha is seated at center, and below her is their son, David, shown holding grandson Shane.

New Bus Route Approved For Canyon Schools

A new bus route which officials say will alleviate crowding on two other routes in the Canyon School District was approved Thursday morning by Randall County School trustees.

The new route will now be submitted to the Texas Education Agency for final approval before it can be implemented next fall.

Bobby Byrd of the Canyon district presented the proposed new school bus route to the trustees Thursday for consideration.

He said two current routes in the area in the north portion of the district are running buses with consistent overcrowding. The two buses on the routes have standing students each day, he said.

Byrd characterized the need for the new route as an indication of the rapid growth of the area between Amarillo and Canyon.

He said, though, he hopes the new route will solve the overcrowding problem for at least two or three years.

Byrd said legislation is currently pending in the State Legislature which would outlaw allowing students to stand in a school bus. Current Texas law allows one standee per seat in the bus.

"But, we try to avoid that," Byrd said. "It's just not safe."

Trustee Don Marsh of Amarillo questioned Byrd on why the school trustees have to approve new bus routes.

"It's kind of ridiculous that we have to approve your routes," he said. "If we didn't we wouldn't have anything to do."

official county school superintendent, said the county school trustees must approve new routes under state law since school districts purchase buses through a state agency.

Trustees discussed briefly the latest developments in the Amarillo School District's proposal that several sections of land now in the Canyon School District be annexed.

Annual meeting and luncheon for the Randall County Cancer Society is scheduled at noon, Thursday, May 17. The event will be in the Green Room of the cafeteria on the campus of West Texas State University.

Miss Ruth Cross, president of the society, wishes to invite all interested persons to attend, especially those who participated in the fund raising drive. No reservations will be required for the luncheon.

Purpose of the annual meeting is to elect officers, name board members and delegates to meetings in June and August.

Reports from the nominating committee and other chairmen will be heard.

Bennie Cooper, crusade chairman, states that by April 18, $5,751 had been received in donations. April was Cancer Crusade month, and the goal for Randall County was set at $5,000. Further crusade efforts will include a bike-a-thon and a swim-a-thon, with dates to be announced later.
